"In Darkness" - Holocaust Memorial Day Film – Yom Ha'Shaoah

Film to commemorate the Holocaust

Sponsored by: Jewish Studies Committee, Hillel, Clark Center for International Education, Project on Eastern & Central Europe, Center for Gender and Intercultural Studies, Department of Political Science, Department of Psychology, Department of History, and ASC

Nominated in 2012 as a "Best Foreign Film" Oscar contender, In Darkness, is a compelling story based on the book In the Sewers of Lvov by Robert Marshall. This tale is a true account of a group of Jews in Lvov who flee to the sewers and are sheltered by a non-Jewish sewer inspector. This account is one of many from this period of empathetic individuals throughout Europe who assisted Jews on the run and subsequently risked their families' lives in doing so.

In recent years, several German towns have reached out to Jews who were persecuted in the 1930s and 1940s at the hands of the Nazi regime. They have welcomed these Jews and invited them to return to their former homes and neighbors. SUNY Cortland is fortunate to be visited by Cornell Sociology professor David Kay, a local with personal experiences in such situations. Since September 2001, he has accompanied his father Eric Kay on three "reunion" trips to Heidelberg, Germany where he was born. Using photos and family archives, Mr. Kay will discuss the highlights of the visits and the implications of Germany's effort to rectify and commemorate the experiences of Jews during this trying time.

Sandwich Seminar - "Guantanamo: National Security in the Context of Human Rights and International Law"

Lecture by Dr. Ute Ritz-Deutch, History Department, SUNY Cortland

Sponsored by: SUNY Cortland President's Office

Are you curious about Guantanamo? This talk will review the history of the detention facility since January 2002 and analyze national security objectives through a human rights and international law framework. The American Civil Liberties Union (ACLU) and Amnesty International campaigns will serve as a basis for this interesting talk.

Date: April 17th @ 12PM
Location: Corey Union Exhibition Lounge

Ute Ritz-Deutch teaches in the History Department at SUNY Cortland and advises the Amnesty International Student Group. She is also the group coordinator for the Ithaca Chapter of Amnesty International and an area coordinator for New York State. Her area of expertise is human rights and immigrant rights.
